

Signalife

Clear Data. Trusted Results.

Signalife, Inc.
531 South Main St. ~ Suite 301
Greenville, SC 29601
T 864.233.2300
F 864.233.2100
www.signalife.com
info@signalife.com

PRESS RELEASE

Thursday August 25, 2005 | 11:54 am ET

Recom Managed Systems Strengthens Board of Directors adds Los Angeles Business Legend Rowland Perkins

GREENVILLE, S.C.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Aug. 25, 2005--Recom Managed Systems (AMEX:RSY - News) announced today that it has added two members to its board of directors. Business leader Rowland Perkins, co-founder of one of the top talent and literary agencies in Los Angeles, will serve as a member of the board's compensation committee. Also named to the board was Norma Provencio, who will serve as an independent member of the board's audit committee.

Mr. Perkins, who co-founded Creative Artists Agency and served as its president, joined the board effective immediately. Creative Artists Agency, which was co-founded by Hollywood moguls such as Michael Ovitz and Ron Meyer, has acted as one of the most powerful business organizations in the country. It was co-founded by Mr. Perkins in 1975 following his very successful 16-year career with stalwart William Morris Agency. There, Mr. Perkins ultimately supervised the television development division, where he helped introduce the concept of "motion pictures for television" and presided over the development of dozens of television projects, many of which reached the fall schedule. Creative Artists Agency ultimately assisted many national and international companies in broad marketing and business-consulting efforts.

Mr. Perkins, who has replaced Lucy Duncan-Scheman, will assist new company chair, Chief Executive Officer Pamela Bunes, in media evaluation and exposure during Recom's critical and ongoing "go-to-market" transition. Ms. Bunes was unanimously voted by the board to serve as its chair now that the company's managerial operations have successfully moved to Greenville, S.C. The company maintains its office, information systems and technical laboratories in Los Angeles.

Commenting on the addition of Mr. Perkins, Ms. Bunes said, "We are very gratified that a person of Mr. Perkins' caliber will be available as a board member for consultation and assistance. His experience for two decades at Creative Artists Agency alone -- where that company became a prominent leader in many diversified business services encompassing advertising (Coca-Cola), investment and banking advisement (Sony/Columbia) and other consultation for companies in communications and technology fields -- is experience that represents a perfect fit for us at this juncture in the company's development."

Mr. Perkins has also been a longtime member of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences and has served on its board of governors. He also has been a longtime member of the Hollywood Radio and Television Society and served on its board of directors. Mr. Perkins has been active in consulting and board-membership roles for several successful companies over the past decades.

Also added to the audit committee of Recom's board of directors was independent board member Norma Provencio. Ms. Provencio has a 25-year career where she was partner of international accounting firms, the last one being KPMG. Ms. Provencio currently serves as a consultant to health care companies and is active philanthropically through various foundations.

Dr. Lowell Harmison, one of Recom's long-term board members for more than two years, commented, "We are very happy to welcome Mr. Perkins and Ms. Provencio. I have personally been very satisfied with how smoothly and quickly the company has developed its East Coast presence through, among other things, the opening of the South Carolina office. As the company now looks to access media and associated commercialization with more focus, the addition of Mr. Perkins is exciting and timely. Continuing to bring on experienced and independent board members -- and financial experts such as Ms. Provencio -- is also salutary and critical to the appropriate constituency of the company's board for purposes of its new national listing on the American Stock Exchange and its continued governance going forward."

About Recom Managed Systems, Inc.

Recom Managed Systems, Inc. is an emerging life-sciences company focused on the monitoring and detection of disease through continuous biomedical signal monitoring. Recom Managed Systems, Inc. uses its patented signal technology to design and develop medical devices that simplify and reduce the costs of diagnostic testing and patient monitoring in an ambulatory setting. With its patented signal-technology platform, Recom brings clinical-quality physiological signal monitoring to the ambulatory setting.

Recom's first product, the Model 100 Heart Monitor, is an ambulatory patient heart monitor that uses patented signal-processing technology to record a clinical-quality ECG signal in the presence of interference generated by the patient's body movements and ambient environment. The Model 100 has received 510(k) clearance from the Food and Drug Administration.

Recom Managed Systems, Inc. is traded on the American Stock Exchange under the symbol RSY. More information is located at <http://www.recom-systems.com>

Contact:

Recom Managed Systems, Inc.

Rodney Hildebrandt, 864-233-2300

Fax: 864-233-2100

or

MCS Public Relations

Todd Forte, 908-234-9900

toddf@mcspr.com

Source: Recom Managed Systems, Inc.